STOOD BY THE PASTOR.

Presbyterians Vote for Rev. Ferguson
290 to 103—He Will Resign—So
Will the Elders.

The congregational meeting held at the Presbyterian church last night to consider difficulties between the pastor, Rev. H. Clay Ferguson, and the session, was unusually well attended. The meeting did not open until 8 o'clock owing to a private meeting of the committee of Presbytery with the session, beforehand, and the congregation were in their seats long before that time. Rev. Mr. Ferguson and his wife were present and occupied seats up near the front. The expectation of a stormy session was not realized. Everything passed off smoothly and quietly.

According to the ruling of the committee from the Presbytery, no discussion was allowed upon the part of the members of the congregation on either side. This ruling no doubt suppressed many utterances, which might have created ill feeling and possibly have precipitated a cyclone of windy words.

The services were opened by Rev. Boyle, of Salem. The congregation sang "Coronation" and prayer was offered by Rev. Anderson, of Lisbon.
REV. BOYLE EXPLAINS
Rev. Boyle then rose and stated the object of the meeting. He said: "The committee is here to represent Presbytery and not to do their own will. We have been sent to investigate the trouble and if possible get at the cause of it and root it out. We have met with the session, and have endeavored to give both sides due attention. The matter has been discussed sufficiently by all interested, and the committee does not propose a vote and discussion take place tonight. It is simply necessary for the congregation to express their sentiments by casting a ballot. You should remember that this is a very solemn act. Ask God to aid you in the any selfish feeling and to act to the best interests of the church. Be not turned aside by any rumor you have heard, and vote your honest convictions. If the work of the committee is not satisfactory report it to Presbytery but don't talk about it here. The question to be voted on is 'Are you satisfied with the present relationship between pastor and people?' If so vote 'yes'; if not vote 'no'."

Rev. Mr. Boyle then requested that only members of the church vote.
The ballots were then distributed to the people by the committee.
The action of Presbytery was read, recommending that the committee be appointed to visit Canton, obtain a vote and find some solution of the difficulty.
The members were requested to use all the time desired in preparing the ballots, and if the question was not fully understood have it explained to them by the committee. "We think," said Mr. Boyle, "that both sides have been conscientious in this matter and if any mistakes have been made in the conducting of affairs, we are to blame for it."

The congregation then proceeded to prepare their ballots.
THE ELDERS WERE JUDGES.
The session was invited to the front to act as judges. They availed themselves of the opportunity, and occupied seats overlooking the ballot box. They were granted the privilege of challenging any one not entitled to vote. No one was challenged, however.
The congregation was then requested to come to the ballot box one by one and deposit their votes. This occupied about fifteen minutes. The session then had all been deposited, it was announced that a count would be immediately made. A few people left the building but the majority stayed to hear the result.

There was considerable expressed excitement in the room during the counting by the committee and when they signified that the result was ready every ear was strained to catch the words of the speaker.

THE RESULT OF THE VOTE.
Rev. Mr. Boyle stepped from the table where the ballots had been counted, and announced that 290 ballots had been cast. Of these 290 were for Mr. Ferguson and 103 were against him.

At this announcement the audience broke into loud and continued applause. As soon as it had subsided Rev. Mr. Ferguson stepped to the platform. He said that he had preached in that congregation for five years, and had done his best. "I have done my duty," said he, "but I have made mistakes. I feel greatly pleased at this action of the congregation, and I think that it is a great expression of their appreciation. I have stayed in the fight for principle. I do not think a few men should run a church. At the fall meeting of the presbytery, however, I reluctantly gave up the dissenting of the relations between me and the people."

Rev. Ferguson was applauded during his speech and received liberal applause on being seated.
The congregation was then dismissed. Many remained, however, to congratulate the pastor on his victory. General satisfaction was expressed at the result on the part of his friends.
THE SESSION TO GO.
After the congregational meeting ended last night, the session and the committee held a confab. The session and the committee had been presented with a petition signed by 350 members of the congregation, asking the resignation of the eldership. The reasons given were that the session had, without the consent of the congregation, gone before the Presbytery and asked for the removal of the pastor; that they had refused to allow the congregation to participate in the communion on Easter Sunday, and that they had created general dissatisfaction in the church. Their removal was suggested as the only means of creating peace.

At this afternoon the elders were recommended to resign in a body by the committee. This they promised to do. The date their resignation was to be made yet been decided, but it will be announced from the pulpit soon. Several of the elders were seen this morning and stated that they were perfectly willing to step down and out at any time.

A prominent member who is in touch with the session stated last evening, however, that an adjourned meeting of the session would likely be held soon, when some new developments might be expected.

GREAT BRITAIN ACTS.

Two Warships Arrive at Corinto, Nicaragua.

TO ENFORCE INDENITY DEMAND.

The United States Will Await Developments—A Belief That No Attempt Will Be Made by the British to Secure Any Nicaraguan Territory.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—The Nicaraguan minister has received a cablegram from his government, announcing the arrival at Corinto, Nicaragua, of two British warships, with the expressed purpose of enforcing the demands contained in the British ultimatum. Just how this is to be done, the minister was not informed. The indications now are that Nicaragua will offer a passive resistance to the British demands for some time at least, and meanwhile the United States will do nothing but await the developments of events, unless the British take some action that effects our purely selfish interests, such as interfering with our shipping, or other interests of American citizens.

This attitude is assumed in the full confidence that no attempt will be made by the British to secure any Nicaraguan territory, no matter what course they may be obliged to pursue to accomplish their purpose of collecting the "smart money" demanded for the suspension of Vice Consul Hatch. There is reason to believe that not only the Nicaraguan affair, but the whole subject of the extent of the protection to be extended by the United States to the sister republics of Central and South America has been very earnestly and deliberately discussed by the president with his full cabinet, and that the attitude here will have the sanction of the government, may be taken as an indication of the line of policy to be adopted for the treatment of all questions arising between the European powers and these republics, having as basis as the present Nicaraguan incident.

The flesh was almost entirely torn from the child's face and other injuries were sustained. Death may result. The dog was killed immediately. It was never known to be cross before.

SEED POTATOES.

The studies of The American Agriculturist's potato tests give some interesting points. While the reports from farmers who raised big yields show wide difference in the quantity of seed used, upon one leading point there is great unanimity among all growers—viz: The careful selection of the potatoes used for seed. In every instance fair, smooth, handsome, well shaped potatoes were chosen. Not always were they large, but they were always of uniform size and weighing usually from six to eight ounces each. In one case 26 tubers selected in seeding an acre were selected from a choice lot of 60 bushels of fair, merchantable potatoes. The range in the amount of seed used was very great, from 8 to 66 bushels, the average being 21 1/2 bushels. The amount of seed used in preparing for the three largest yields reported were, respectively, 26, 66 and 18 1/2 bushels. A curious thing about this seeding is that in the first instance the crop was 974 bushels, in the second 847 and in the last 738 bushels. Another curious fact is shown by a further study of the returns. In New York a planting of 40 bushels of seed yielded a crop of 441 bushels, and in Maine a seeding of but 10 bushels gave a yield of 537 bushels. In this last instance the potatoes were all cut to one eye, and the seed ends and stem ends discarded. Every thing points to the fact that we want high bred potatoes for seed, as much as we want thoroughbred animals for breeding, and the same care in selection should obtain in the one case as in the other. By all means reject undersized, imperfect, badly shaped potatoes for seed, says American Agriculturist.
